破答：This page contains a schedule of workshops and contributors. It appears to be a program for a medical or scientific event. The schedule includes times for welcome introductions, rounds of workshops, and a reflection and wrap-up. Contributors are listed on the left side, and each workshop is followed by a list of contributors. The page is in English, and it seems to be part of a larger document or program. The text is somewhat fragmented due to the layout of the page.
